

Aquarius 24 January - 19 February

Your element: Air

Your ruling planets: Uranus & Saturn

Symbol: The Water Bearer

Your stone: Blue sapphire, amethyst, green emerald, green tourmaline, diamond and lapis lazuli

Life Pursuit: I Progress

Vibration: Evolve

Secret Desire: I evolve and encompass all humanity

You were fortunate enough to be born under the humanitarian zodiac sign of Aquarius. You are therefore ruled by electric and progressive Uranus making you forward thinking and self-directed. You're a born revolutionary so no one can tell you how to live your life. Your clear-cut approach makes it perfectly clear just how differently you wish to experience life.

You just don't want to be like others and take pride in the fact that you're so unique. Even if you're occasionally criticized for your cheeky attitude, you'd far prefer to be self-sufficient rather than being a sheep in society who follows everyone else's lead.

You are a zesty individual, having tremendous amounts of energy. You are determined and forceful in how you deal with people. You want to express your ground-breaking spirit in everything you do but unfortunately you won't always be able to break free of the limits that are imposed upon you. Some Aquarians learn through their family life that before you can be the master of your own destiny, you have to serve. In some extreme cases Aquarians are controlled and dominated by others throughout the formative period of their lives which is why it's so difficult for them to submit to others.

If you're not able to live your life on your own terms, you'll dream and aspire to a future time when you can fulfil your destiny to the fullest in exactly the way you want. You have very inspirational views of the world and even if your opinions are too different, you'll always be respected for speaking your mind honestly.

You share your zodiac sign with many other grand personalities. Like them you are attracted to social issues. You like to be involved in groups and organizations that make a difference in society. Even in the smallest of ways, you will try to make some difference in this world. If you look at Aquarians like Oprah Winfrey, Boris Yeltsin and entertainers like Peter Gabriel and John Travolta, they are deeply interested in changing the awareness of people to make the world a better place.

Because you have great organizational and communication skills you work really well with others. You have your own ideas and solutions to problems. Others are surprised at your quirky approach and how you resolve these issues.

You're investigative, curious and extremely active mentally. Your thinking mind rarely, if ever, stops. You need to learn when to shut down as your brain can become overactive, especially at night.

Communication is your specialty and you relate well to the world. You will continue to enlarge your active personality so don't try to suppress your true character – just express it prudently. You're vigorous in the way you present your ideas so there's never a dull moment around you. There's often someone who wants to challenge you, especially if they happen to have a much more conventional way of doing things. You'll be more than happy to challenge that taking great pleasure in proving them wrong.

Uranus, your planetary ruler, is abrupt and breathtaking by nature and will fill your life with plenty of unanticipated surprises - good and not so good. You like it like this and the unexpected is something you thrive upon! Even if you have a stable home or work situation you like to shake things up from time to time to keep everyone on their toes. Still, you're very loyal when it comes to your most personal relationships.

You like to create a comfortable environment in which to live. Venus influences your domestic sphere so you have a flair for design and color. Your surroundings mirror your unique character. Others are amazed at the way you decorate your home. There'll be nothing ordinary about it, that's for sure.

Your far-reaching attitudes overwhelm your friends sometimes and they sometimes refer to you as harmlessly "mad". Salvador Dali the famous painter once remarked about him - "The only difference between me and a madman is that I'm not mad!" Even if he wasn't an Aquarius - this sums you up perfectly.

You embrace anything technological as Aquarius governs modern appliances. You are inventive and research orientated and certainly aren't a technophobic. If you're an Aquarian male, some may even call you the "gadget man". You like to be up to date with the latest and greatest handheld devices, computers and other audio or visual entertainment equipment.

You find it difficult to uphold relationships with those who aren't prepared to evolve in the same way as yourself. Due to this you'll be continually re-inventing yourself, trying to stimulate your friends to be better. Your rigid opinions bring you into disagreement with others. One of the laws of power suggests that you must act like others, but don't always openly air your thoughts. It's a good idea for you to keep some of their sweeping ideals tucked away until you test the water first.

There's a universal quality about you. Although you appear aloof and detached you're inwardly sensitive and caring. You prefer to associate with people who share the same diverse views on life. Your life will almost certainly never be drab. You are able to embrace anything new including music and fashion. This is why you'll always be young at heart.

THREE CLASSES OF AQUARIUS

January 21- 31

As an Aquarian born between the 21st and 31st January your attitude is very much inventive and research orientated. You love to have the most up to date gadgetry in your hands and like nothing better than to have the latest release of a computer, mobile phone or anything else that has just come on the market. Communication with the rest of the world and entertainment is what grabs your interest.

February 1 - 9

Being born between the 1st and 9th February may mean that your friends have a hard time keeping up with you as you evolve so rapidly that it makes their head spin. Then there will be others who will try to hold you back from your headlong rush to conquer the world. There's an old saying that you might want to keep in mind which says "think as you like, but act like others" and this may be necessary if your ways are just a little too hard for people to keep up with.

February 10 - 18

If you are born between the 10th and 18th February you may come across as being detached and even insensitive but you actually deeply care for your fellow man. A very diverse group of friends and associates will be attracted to you and will live life with the view to exploring every aspect of relationships with the ultimate goal of a more enlightened view of the world and yourself.

BORN ON A CUSP?

Aquarius - Capricorn cusp

'Diametrically opposed' is the best way to describe the signs of Aquarius and Capricorn. If you're born in the cuspal interval which is the overlap of the two signs that is from the 19th till the 26th of January you partake of some of the elements of the preceding sign of Capricorn.

Having an Aquarius and Capricorn blend of energies as your star sign can present you with some difficult problems. You will desperately want to progress, move forward and be so different but will find the Aquarius element dragging you back into a mode of conservatism therefore you probably experience a lot of inattention.

You want to be progressive in every aspect of your life and love change but find the Capricorn side of your nature dragging you back into a mode of conservatism. On the one hand you want to forge forward with new ideas, but also hold fast to traditional ideals as well.

You'll be constantly mindful of the financial burden that this could place on you if you don't have the financial resources to do this. Finding a delicate balance will be part of your life's challenge.

Your mind and the way you relate to people will also be in a constant tug - of - war. At times you will want to give the other person the shirt off your back, generously helping them whenever and in any way you can as it is obviously a typically Aquarian trait. But the Capricorn in you will persistently be mindful of the consequences and brings with it a greater degree of reluctance to impulsively give away everything.

What I would say to you Aquarius is that you shouldn't fight with this set of diametrically opposed personality traits. In fact I think by accepting both star signs' qualities you will be in a position to be successful, secure, which is the Aquarius ideal yet at the same time capable of progressing and achieving your humanitarian ideals at the same time. This is great as you have the best of both worlds.

Aquarius - Pisces Cusp

Pisces is the sign which follows Aquarius and if you happen to be born in that period of time between the 19th and 26th of February you exhibit the traits of both Aquarius and the sign of the fish, Pisces.

Pisces is the final sign of the zodiac and is often represented karmically as the last stage of human evolution. Pisceans exhibit a strong emotional and spiritual quality to their personalities and therefore you possess the intellectual and discriminative brilliance of your Aquarian sun sign with the added flavour of this intuitive and psychic connection that is brought to you by the cusp of Pisces.

One quality both star signs share is the desire to help others. Aquarius is somewhat rational in its planning and approach to the type of help that it can render whilst Pisces is more selfless and giving in the truest spiritual tradition of sacrifice as in the Christian schools of thought which of course are symbolised by the fish.

Please take care not to delude yourself into giving for the sake of giving. You must always exercise your Aquarian discrimination to qualify who is worthy of your help and who is simply a hanger - on. Giving to those that are worthy is the name of the game and I'm pleased to say that having the balance of Aquarius will help you make the right choices in providing assistance and new systems of thought to individuals and society at large. This is an excellent cusp to be born in.

The secret of understanding yourself if you are born in this period is to overcome your fear of the unknown. Aquarius will tear apart the attitudes and fixed opinions that you may have about the way things are and the way things should be.

The fear of letting go will be challenged by the planet Uranus and if you are able to overcome this inner tension and apprehension about what is likely to happen if you experience and live your life based upon your heart rather than your head, you will grow and develop in leaps and bounds. But again, I stress that this can only take place if you are prepared to break free of your own concepts and those conventional standards by which you have continued to live for so long.

Having the influence of Aquarius makes you original in thought, lateral in your decision making and a quirky individual to say the least. People enjoy your company because you are able to present that traditional side of life but often throw a spanner in the works when you exhibit this other rather unusual facet of your personality. You will always keep people guessing.

Aquarius Sign Compatibility

Aquarius sign compatibility with Aquarius

An Aquarius next to another Aquarius! A relationship as sparkling as champagne and as necessary as a creed!

When you see them, don't be surprised if they're planning the rehabilitation of the human being at a planetary level and talking about what they could invent to gain more time.

Because Uranus' adventure is, in its essence, an adventure beyond Time, precisely for Space not to be threatened anymore by this "erosion" energy. Because if Uranus loses his Space, (s)he loses the reason of being.

And the heart, also - isn't it an infinite space? Love - isn't it a space without which nobody and no one can breathe? Isn't Time the one that has to be "resolved" into this necessary "limitation"?

Aquarius sign compatibility with Capricorn

Aquarius and Capricorn! Two very different saturnine people - simply complementary.

Interesting combination! But, statistically, it's quite rare because these two "old" signs don't seem to need each other too often. Still, if they meet and manage to synchronize their value systems, they can build one of the most spectacular couples.

Capricorn will patiently temper Aquarius' lack of measure and Aquarius will always suggest new horizons to Capricorn. It is, in fact, the couple that can abolish the generation gap from history, if the Saturnine Capricorn knows what to keep of what is old and if Aquarius knows what to choose of the new values to add to the existing ones. The combination between tradition and innovation can truly be saving sometimes.

It's understandable why, from the winter signs on, love comprises the great problems of humanity. These signs didn't join the terrestrial existence for themselves, but for the others.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Sagittarius

Aquarius and Sagittarius - or conquering the world!

Talking about this relationship is like reading an encyclopaedia of all times: nothing is hidden, unknown or unexplored. Sagittarius' often prophetic visionaries will always find the necessary support and enthusiasm in Aquarius' dreams to improve the human condition, and Aquarius' wish to wander freely through the Realm of Gods will always have a passionate fan in Sagittarius' passion for exploration.

If they truly love each other, then nobody can affect this sincere, dynamic, often passionate couple, characterized by a real aspiration to break all limits.

Don't think for a moment that there is something that can scare them or make them give up. No way!

Aquarius sign compatibility with Scorpio

What a relationship between the infinity of the Sky and the abyss of the Earth!

Total level difference! And a matching power between two extremes without which our life would be impossible.

Aquarius seems to deny his/her terrestrial origins, and Scorpio seems to forget his/her celestial ideal; one tends to go up and the other to go down.

It's practically a relationship between two sun signs that most often communicate on completely different frequencies. A combination usually thought of as impossible or very difficult, as Aquarius isn't very patient with Scorpio's emotional, introvert and jealous nature, while Scorpio will hardly tolerate Aquarius' careless independence.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Pisces

Aquarius and Pisces, or unconditioned commitment and supreme sacrifice.

Yes, this is a couple of free sufferance or of the human kind's salvation - meaning that each of them has his/her own duality. The Pisces native can choose the direction in this couple if (s)he is allowed to, and Aquarius can decide whether this direction is the necessary one, if (s)he is taken seriously.

In normal or poor social conditions, the Aquarius-Pisces couple can have a peaceful marriage with the subsequent implications. But, at turning points for the humanity, this couple can prove often incredible qualities. And this is exactly because one dreams as much as (s)he can (Aquarius) and the other sacrifices him/herself willingly (Pisces), because they both know, deep inside their heart, that they are here to save the planet.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Libra

Yes, this could be a fulfilled relationship!

This is because there is so much Air that the relationship tends to involve everything and everybody in its emotional sphere.

The Aquarius-Libra couple will always be comfortable around the others - at parties, shows, interviews, taking part in charity deeds or in partnership negotiations of any kind.

This is a couple in which Libra brings refinement and Aquarius brings immensity, in which the heart of Venus (Libra) has the capacity to synchronize its beats with the cerebral rhythms of Uranus (Aquarius).

Aquarius sign compatibility with Pisces

Unconditioned commitment and supreme sacrifice.

Yes, this is a couple of free sufferance or of the human kind's salvation - meaning that each of them has his/her own duality. The Pisces native can choose the direction in this couple if (s)he is allowed to, and Aquarius can decide whether this direction is the necessary one, if (s)he is taken seriously.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Aries

What a beauty and what a tornado!

An Air sign with a Fire sign! It couldn't have been better because Air keeps the Fire burning and Fire keeps the Air warm! Aquarius is permanently in the Air because (s)he dreams of saving the world, and Aries always burns for the sake of initiatives and action.

The unpredictable is what ties them together. Aquarius (ruled by Uranus) is original and imaginative - hence the splendour of the relationship. But Aries (ruled by Mars) is always an enthusiastic who only thinks after (s)he takes action (and not too often though) - hence the "explosive" nature of the couple.

Aquarius and Aries are good for each other because they are active, full of great intentions, thoughts and deeds, sometimes even heroic, and in some cases they are even adventurous

Aquarius sign compatibility with Virgo

Aquarius and Virgo, or the fascination of power!

Yes, a fascination that joins Virgo's unconditioned commitment and Aquarius' wild enthusiasm to save the world, which makes them reach different dimensions of life but complementarily, indeed: Aquarius is oriented towards the subtle worlds, looking through the memory of the Universe with his/her imagination, and Virgo towards the material and sensible aspects, revealing the micro cosmos that comes into contact with this Universe at the terrestrial level.

Aquarius sacrifices his/her heart for the sake of absolute knowledge; Virgo sacrifices his/her personal life to aunts, uncles, old people and all those that have no support. Aquarius sees the woods and Virgo sees only the trees

Aquarius sign compatibility with Taurus

Aquarius and Taurus! What an overwhelming happiness!

Do you, by any chance, doubt it? Do you find it impossible or incredible? Do you think Taurus is too domestic and easy-going, too attached to things and desirous of a peaceful home and high living, and Aquarius too rebel and too "universal", preoccupied with his/her astral worlds, for them to find a way to get along? If you think so, then let me tell you that you are misled by the shallow aspects of the relationship. And here's why:

In fact, both Taurus and Aquarius are fixed signs, characterized by the storing force - even if Taurus is interested in material possessions and Aquarius in intellectual ones.

Both Taurus and Aquarius are creators by definition - even if Taurus has a real sense of "sensible" aesthetic values while Aquarius an equally real sense of values, but of abstract ones. They both prove a high originality, each of them being a non-conformist in his/her own way, even if Taurus is often classified as conservative.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Gemini

Two happy people living in their own world.

Air and Air! What can we expect of them? Maybe just pay more attention to the sentimental life, not to miss the feelings. The Aquarius-Gemini couple is a special, wonderful, "airy" combination, full of ideas that meet successfully Gemini's pleasure to pass on the information and Aquarius' gift to take this information to the highest peaks of mentality.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Cancer

Do you think something like that is possible?

We can assume that Aquarius is too mental and Cancer is too sensitive; we could believe that Aquarius is a born adventurer and Cancer is a true, old-fashioned family man/woman, thus drawing a line between unpredictable freedom and open, often blind conservatism. It's a relationship that, in a way, can be the expression of the famous generation gap.

It's not always like that. Incompatible signs such as Aquarius and Cancer look for each other when time has come to take the final step towards their spiritual evolution.

Cancer needs to learn to be free and not to depend on anyone, and Aquarius needs to learn to accept love, to let him/herself be overwhelmed, invaded by Cancer's feelings.

Aquarius sign compatibility with Leo

Aquarius and Leo: the ones who look into each other's eye for a lifetime!

"Excellent combination!" most of us would say, because, indeed, good Air can sustain a long Fire. Great commitment (Leo) becomes at any time the support of enthusiasm (Aquarius) that can mean everything.

However, there is some over royalty here: Leo is theatrical and takes, sometimes abusively, the entire scene of Aquarius' existence, while Aquarius, the king of the whole space by definition, stands no limitation, even if it is out of love.

2014 Love Horoscope

2014 can be a very romantic year - but not from the beginning. You'll step into the New Year with Venus, Aquarius' planet of love, in the cycle of retrograde movement in the twelfth house, a dark and hidden house, which astrological tradition considers being a twilight realm.

Venus entered this area on November 5th last year and will be there until March 5th 2014. This position can underline two aspects: one, related to sadness, the other, to mystery. In the first case, it'll be about disappointments, separation, loneliness; it is also possible that some hidden thoughts or relational traumas will subconsciously come out to the surface.

In the second case, it could be about a secret love story, a forbidden affair, sentimental issues, gossip, blackmail or unveiled private secrets. Beware, especially if you're in a relationship that has to do with the job, studies, or career!

Prudence is recommended especially in January 2014, when Venus is effectively retrograde and things will become difficult to control or they might have unusual development.

After an approximately two-month period of relative calm, things will get confused again. This time it'll be about passion, sex or children, in connection with some trips, news or discussions.

Finally, after all these adventures, in July 2014 a major event will take place: Jupiter will enter Aquarius' house of relationships. This marks the beginning a twelve-month period favourable to relationships, a flourishing period of fulfilment. There will be all sorts of offers and opportunities, the current relationship will go well, and the partner will have achievements.

The last part of July and the whole month of August 2014 can bring absolutely special events.

The end of October and all the month November 2014 will be relevant.
