

Pisces February 20 - March 20

Your element: Water

Your ruling planets: Jupiter & Neptune

Symbol: The Fish

Your stone: Yellow sapphire, gold and topaz, red coral and pearl

Life Pursuit: I offer my love to all, but I am grounded

Vibration: Evolve

Secret Desire: Loving, sensitive, intuitive, spiritual, idealistic, victimised and moody

In the scheme of astrology each of the zodiac signs supposedly indicates the level of evolution beginning with Aries and finishing with your sign, Pisces. There's no doubt that the water signs, Pisces being the final and most mature of them, indicates your spiritually developed character.

The ruling symbol of your star sign is the fish and just as the fish lives in the ocean, so to is Pisces suffused with feeling and empathy, the emotions that are characterized by water. You truly are a compassionate and unconditionally loving person.

You have a universal approach to the way you live and this is seen in most of your actions. Whenever you see someone suffering, or in some type of trouble, it touches your heart and you can't help but offer your assistance. Your heart goes out to them. Even if you're in a hurry, busy doing something else, you'll take time out of your busy day to lend a helping hand where you can. It is second nature for you to care.

Your friends know you to be a person upon whose shoulders they can rest their weary and heavy heads in times of stress. They look to you when they feel they need to offload their problems. You're always there to help reassure and calm them.

One of the difficulties with your sensitive nature is that you avoid making hard decisions at times, especially if you feel this is going to undermine someone else. With close friends and family members you'll do anything to help them but don't forget you must also help yourself. Some Pisces are so habituated to this attitude that they themselves end up becoming the sacrificial lamb in their relationships. You should try to recognize when you're being used as no one gains from this. Balancing your needs and those of others is a particularly important lesson for you.

Because you're an intuitive person you don't always like to think your problems through. Using your emotions and your deeper intuitive powers is the way you prefer to resolve your life problems, even if others don't quite see the sense in it. Pisces, you are somewhat of a daydreamer aren't you? Nevertheless your instincts are powerful and more often than not correct. Your ability to foresee things before it actually happens is quite uncanny. I've known many Pisceans who become psychics and clairvoyant as they have the ability to act as mediums. Remember though that intuition can only go so far. Learn to develop your thinking processes as well as your intuitive feelings.

You have an instinctive understanding that there's a unifying thread throughout all of life. You see this sometimes more clearly than you see the real world. As a result, you can tap into the universal consciousness and produce wonderful works of art and music. You should allow yourself the opportunity to express your vision of life. Culture is important to you and you love to surround your self with artwork, music poetry and fine furnishings.

You're a very emotional person so you need the support of people to allow you to express this. Sometimes because you're so hypersensitive it works against you and you end up absorbing the negativity of people around you. You must not let others drag you down into their world of bad feelings.

You're idealistic about the way you see the world and unfortunately what you see is not in keeping with your aspiration. You have to learn to accept the world with all its faults.

Sometimes you're out of step with the world around you so be careful not to end up living in a world of your own making. You need loving friends to help your feet carefully planted on the ground so your creative dream weaving doesn't make you impractical. You're gentle, impressionable and receptive. You want to share your emotions and are also happy to receive the demonstrative love of others.

You try to hide just how sensitive you are and if someone insults you tend to suppress these feelings and can become depressed. You mustn't be afraid to speak up even if you do upset or anger someone by doing so.

You enjoy your own company and are quite satisfied to potter around in a quiet way and enjoy what nature and life have to offer. You're equally comfortable in a social environment. Sometimes you do feel isolated and a little disconnected from life. This makes you feel dispassionate even if you do seem to be enjoying what is going on.

Because you are an observer of human nature you are philosophical and realize that nothing lasts forever. If, for example, in relationships you have to let go of someone, then so be it. You understand that all good things must pass.

Your destiny is primarily connected to wisdom, self-knowledge and compassionate service to the world. You must be free to live your life on these terms and if you're able to do so you'll become much more secure within yourself and at the same time can bring great satisfaction to those who are lucky enough to come into contact with you.

THREE CLASSES OF PISCES

February 20 -29

Those of you born between the 20th and 28/29th February are very powerfully ruled by Neptune, the God of the Oceans. This means you are extremely tuned in to the psychic and the clairvoyant realms and will have a natural desire to seek out spiritual information. You are a born social worker and even if you don't work in this arena you will always be available to help others solve their problems.

March 1 - 10

If you happen to be born between the 1st and 10th March you love people but are particularly attached to your kith and kin and excel in sharing your love in close personal relationships. You are loyal and make everyone feel comfortable in your company.

March 11 - 20

As a Pisces born between the 11th and 20th March you have a streak of Scorpio in your nature which makes you passionate, demanding and very intense. An input of 100% is rarely good enough for you so you need to be careful of not being too possessive or jealous in your relationships.

BORN ON A CUSP?

Pisces - Aquarius cusp

If you were born between the 19th and 25th of February you were born under the cusp of Aquarius and Pisces. This means that you partake of some of the elements and personality traits of the previous star sign. Aquarius is a forward thinking and unconventional sign and therefore you're intuitive and mystical qualities are blended with this rather avante garde element of the Aquarian temperament.

You have the ability to take traditional ideas and mould them into concepts that can be useful in helping others on an individual or even a group or communal basis. Working in humanitarian and spiritual organisations or hospitals will give you the opportunity to express much of this Aquarius - Pisces combination.

Because you are born with a mixture of air and water you sometimes find it difficult to balance the intellectual and emotional sides of your nature. Making decisions can be hard for you because you are so prone to wanting to make these decisions based upon your intuitive gut feeling. You know full well that you need to rationalise some things and to use your head but this you find hard at times. You may also find yourself thinking about how you feel or feeling about how you're thinking and this can become too much for you sometimes.

The typical Pisces is usually somewhat of a daydreamer so it's good that the intellectual and communicative aspects of the air sign of Aquarius are enmeshed in your Piscean blood. This gives you a more down to earth and expressive quality to the way you interact with others.

Being born under this blend of astrological signs is a blessing and gives you a special sort of destiny. You are a true helper, an intuitive healer and are able to soothe the wounds of your friends and people generally. Your destiny will make you sought after as a truly unconditional lover and friend.

Pisces - Aries cusp

If you are born between the 16th and 20th of March you draw in some of the fiery energies of the next zodiac sign to yours, Aries. This makes you a bolder sort of Piscean character with a mixture of the elements of water and fire. While as the typical Piscean can sometimes be indrawn and indecisive about which direction to take, the fire of Aries will make you more decisive and even sometimes aggressive in your approach.

Because you are primarily concerned with helping others and giving assistance to those who are less fortunate than yourself the strong ego quality of Aries will make it hard for you to balance self with others. There are times when you are swinging between sheer egotism and pure selflessness. To balance these two extremes in your nature may for many of you be a lifelong challenge.

You have a creative and enterprising nature and want to achieve something in the world but can also bring to that activity some wonderful spiritual and emotional qualities.

You must temper your ambitions however as your emotionalism may cause you to work too hard and at some point suffer the consequences of this through physical sickness. Once again if you are able to balance these driving needs and this emotional intensity you have a great chance of becoming successful and fulfilling yourself both in the world and within your own being.

Pisces Sign Compatibility

Pisces sign compatibility with Aquarius

Stars don't really agree with it and they warn you: don't try it, you might be sorry.

Aquarius always seems absent-minded, mysterious and inapproachable. This is what will attract you at the beginning, but you will get tired of it.

Stubborn and capricious, Aquarius will most often be incapable of assuming the responsibilities you want him to assume. (S)He is a stubborn native and, being a fixed sign, (s)he can't change, so guess who will offer more in your relationship?

Aquarius' bright intellect and the way (s)he handles when (s)he talks about technical issues will fascinate you soon. Remember that this is a sign of progressionist people, with advanced ideas. But, in order to discover the world, to reinvent the wheel and to discover the intelligence of the person next to him/her, Aquarius needs much space to manifest, while Pisces tends to become too possessive, wishing to overwhelm his/her partner with affection. Aquarius can't stand it.

Pisces sign compatibility with Capricorn

Water and Earth, ambition and vision... It could be a good union.

Capricorn is a feminine sign, which means (s)he has the capacity to understand Pisces' visions, emotions and intuitions, as well as his/her needs.

Practical and determined, an intellectual sign, Capricorn will be a good life partner for a Pisces. The Capricorn native has an excellent sense of humour, which makes him/her pretty sociable. However, (s)he is generally a little too cold and realist for a Pisces. Fortunately, you can easily convince a Capricorn to change so, if you try, you'll manage to get the best of him/her.

Capricorn is a very materialist native (and, considering the visionary nature of Pisces, there might be a small problem), but this is good, because money is of no interest to a Pisces. Pisces does not strive for money because (s)he knows that one way or another, it will come to him/her. If you ask him/her how it will happen, (s)he will just shrug his/her shoulders... (s)he knows, but (s)he can't explain the unique and complicated intuitive processes by means of which (s)he knows.

Pisces sign compatibility with Sagittarius

Water and Fire... Very, very difficult.

Sagittarius is very straightforward, and Pisces is very tactful. Sagittarius could often be so straightforward and exact that (s)he can even hurt you. And if you ask him/her what's the reason for which (s)he says such things, (s)he'll simply answer: "Because you asked me! Why did you ask me then?" Arguments that can end the relationship.

What will attract you to a Sagittarius will probably be his/her passion for education, for learning, and his/her inclination towards philosophical discussions. But Sagittarius' lack of diplomacy will make you frown more often than you'd like to, and finally ask yourself if you belong next to him/her...

Sagittarius likes travelling, and you worry much, doubt very often and find it hard to make decisions. Sagittarius won't appreciate that, because (s)he is optimistic and confident, and (s)he always hits the road with no fear and no delay... Precisely these often departures will run your energy dry, because you'll be by yourself too much time - unless you decide to follow your Sagittarius, at all risks.

Pisces sign compatibility with Scorpio

Have you found him/her? Perfect, don't ever let him/her go! If there are soul mates, then Scorpio is Pisces' pair!

Scorpio will understand all your feelings and emotions that nobody understood. Just like you, Scorpio truly wants to know our purpose on this Earth, whether DNA was created by God or by aliens, and what the world is heading to. It's a sign of spirituality, and Pisces appreciates that very much. Scorpio is also faithful and discreet, and Pisces appreciates it even more. And Scorpio's love is very deep and his/her feelings very strong, just like Pisces'.

Sexually, it can be a fantastic connection: Scorpio loves making love and likes the way Pisces regards the sexual act, as an almost religious, sacred experience. Be aware, though, because Scorpio is also extremely jealous, so I'll give you a piece of advice: if you don't want to get very involved in a relationship with a Scorpio, avoid physical contact or delay it as long as possible. Why? Very simple: once (s)he made love to someone, Scorpio expects complete faithfulness and feels entitled to having his/her usual jealousy spasms. To a Scorpio, it's like a contract assigning him/her ownership over the person (s)he loves.

Pisces sign compatibility with Pisces

When Water meets Water... time and space disappear, everything takes place at an emotional level and the world falls somewhere behind.

You are both imaginative, creative, you live your life at an intuitive level and you can understand each other without words. You both know how to give, and thus your connection will be like a beautiful dream, far from the reality that hurts these sensitive Pisces so much.

The only problem would be a prosaic one: neither of you is preoccupied with money, savings and other things of this kind that are for ordinary people only. Neither of you likes being in charge or making important decisions. With two idealists in a home, you'll have to find a sponsor soon, or your coming back to Earth will be rather sudden.

Neither of you likes reality, nor this will make you build a world of your own, difficult to grasp and even more difficult to penetrate. It would be good if at least one of you had an Earth influence somewhere in the natal chart, because at sea, without an anchor, you can't survive for long.

Pisces sign compatibility with Libra

Water and Air? Mineral water! The rip of springs! A couple which stars could disagree with, but anything is possible with a little effort from Pisces.

Born under the sign of Venus, the Libra native is often refined, sophisticated and naturally absent-minded, but with his/her feet on the ground. That's because Libra is both a cardinal and a masculine sign. Just like Air that penetrates everything, the Libra native is very popular and you will often find him/her in elegant or public places, always surrounded by friends.

The sensitive, introvert Pisces might have a little problem with that, because (s)he gets tired very easily when socializing, since (s)he has that rare capacity of sensing and absorbing the energies around him/her. That's why Pisces needs periods of solitude more than any other sun sign, periods in which (s)he recovers his/her strength, meditates or day-dreams.

Libra thinks Pisces spends too much time by him/herself. So, in order to make the relationship work, Pisces has to give in sometimes and try to adjust to Libra's lifestyle.

Libra is keen on cultural activities, high-class restaurants and almost everything that is fashionable. Therefore, little Fish get ready to go into society. Although you'd rather stay at home, in front of the TV (Neptune, the ruler of Pisces, governs the audio-video), and although your satisfactions are most often of a spiritual and emotional nature, dear Pisces, you'll have to prove your social qualities around a Libra. Whether you want to do it or not - it's up to you.

Pisces sign compatibility with Aries

Water and Fire, the last sun sign and the one beginning the cycle... It sounds nice. But not for long. Because Water and Fire = steam.

The initial attraction between a Pisces and an Aries can be magnetic, but a long relationship will be exhausting for both of you, even if Pisces does his/her best to adapt. How much Water does such a great Fire need to be put out? And once it is put out... Fire leaves, to catch light somewhere else.

Aries likes taking over. No problem here, because Pisces likes being dominated (because (s)he no longer has to make decisions, such a tiresome thing to him/her). But Aries is an action man/woman, and Pisces often settles for watching only. This could lead to some problems...

Literally, Water puts out Fire, or at least that's the tendency. Aries is too impetuous for a Fish, too caught in his/her own ego, and not at all diplomat. An Aries will almost always tell the truth to anyone's face, while Pisces has a completely different attitude regarding this matter.

Aries does not take time to think about the meaning of the world and life: (s)he takes action. And this could be stressful to a sensitive Pisces, who needs emotions and appropriate environment for his/her intuition.

Pisces sign compatibility with Virgo

Water and Earth, but that's not all. Dear Pisces, pay attention to the charming Virgo: it's your opposite sign in the zodiac, six months away. Have you ever tried to get two magnets close to one another?

In my opinion, there are two possibilities regarding this combination: either Heaven or Hell on Earth. The initial attraction will be very strong. The practical and realistic Virgo will be amazed at this ethereal and imaginative creature, and Pisces, in his/her turn, will be fascinated by the accurate thinking of this methodical native.

Virgo is very good at things that require preciseness, critical talent ((s)he has it and uses it with no reserve) and verbal ability. Pisces... is good at everything that is NOT precise. As for Pisces' talent, it's so well hidden under his/her unselfishness that it almost doesn't exist.

There is nothing a Pisces cannot understand, and this will bother a sceptical and rigorous Virgo. Pisces has vision, intuition, emotions and an inclination towards symbols. Virgo is often very idealistic and way too perfectionist! (S)He sees the world so clearly and is so good at discovering flaws, criticizing when (s)he thinks necessary and noticing what the others can't notice!

Each of them has what the other lacks. Where Pisces sees the wonder of the world and contemplates it silently, without trying to spoil it by analyzing it, Virgo comes with appropriate tools to measure and divide, to find qualities and defects, to classify and ask questions.

A Virgo can become extremely tiresome to a Pisces that is able to discover beauty everywhere, is unselfish by nature and tolerates so much. Pisces can't understand why we have to ask so many questions and criticize so much, while Virgo can't understand how anyone can contemplate without exploring. Pisces' answer would often be just a shrug of shoulders, but Virgo doesn't give up so easily: the tendency to analyze things will make him/her try to understand everything about Pisces' way of thinking...

On the other hand, Pisces gets tired very quickly when being interrogated... And Virgo will soon become mad if (s)he doesn't succeed in getting the truth out of Pisces' soul.

Pisces sign compatibility with Taurus

Water and Earth, but what a special Earth! Even the stars smile at this combination: it is worth trying!

Fortunately for you, Taurus is very sensual, reasonable, practical, and, in addition, sex is art to him/her. You'll fascinate Taurus rather than vice-versa. (S)He likes your visionary talent, your refined spirit and unselfishness.

One little problem, though: Taurus' materialism is considerable, so you'll have to get used to it. But it's worth it because you'll get much attention in return (a Taurus will always try to offer as much as (s)he receives).

Taurus really likes saving money, keeping objects and making a fortune. Pisces thinks these are earthly, superficial matters, and doesn't get it why (s)he is supposed to be so concerned over money! Taurus does it instinctively, but it's a good thing, because somebody has to bring money home after all.

To a Taurus, being in love means making love. A lot. Taurus doesn't have the same view on this matter as Pisces does. To a Taurus, caressing means very much. Once a Taurus is yours, (s)he'll be faithful, understanding and you'll always rely on his/her practical thinking.

Pisces sign compatibility with Gemini

Water and Air! The zodiac's philosopher and the adolescent. What could come out of it? ... In most cases, nothing resisting.

This is certainly not a classical astrological union. Gemini needs much conversation to stimulate him/her, social contacts, variety. Pisces needs spiritual peace, a refuge where (s)he can isolate and dream and, from time to time, loneliness. Gemini wanders a lot, (s)he is always at some friend's place or just out... And Pisces is rather possessive and (s)he will soon become jealous - or will get tired of trying to satisfy Gemini's taste for new and glamorous. The thought alone of such frantic activities (Gemini is an Air sign, they have to be on the move all the time) terrifies Pisces.

Everything will be all right if you, dear Pisces, manage to make your Gemini understand why you don't want to go out on Saturday evening or to the seaside on Sunday - by explaining to him/her that you want to see a movie, that you need some time by yourself, that the peace of your home is more relaxing to you.

Gemini takes his/her time analyzing and will try to make you justify yourself, and a Pisces makes so many decisions on the spur of the moment or based on the intuition and on his/her inner emotions, that sometimes (s)he will find it rather impossible to do that. Gemini will show you a world that you didn't know before and will stir up your life - maybe even too much? - With his/her ever adolescent spirit.

Pisces sign compatibility with Cancer

Water and Water, a mutable sign and a fixed sign... All stars smile when a Pisces meets a Cancer.

The most important need a Cancer has is having a home and a family: that's where (s)he finds his/her peace, that's where (s)he is happy and wants to be when the day ends. And these are precisely the things a Pisces can offer him/her - gracefully, delicately and reasonably.

As Pisces and Cancer are two Water signs, you both feel emotions in a certain way, more deeply, more intuitively and spiritually. Pisces' need to create and express will be fulfilled in a relationship with a sentimental, romantic and dreamy Crab.

Together, you can create a special paradise, far from the unbound world, because fast paces exhaust both of you very soon.

Cancer tends to put away and to invest, which would be excellent, because Pisces lacks such tendencies. Also, they say that, of all the signs, Cancer is the best at finding bargains. The material side of a long-term relationship is thus secured, all you have to do is enjoy and discover each other: just the thing you know best, like two real Water signs!

Pisces sign compatibility with Leo

Water and Fire - dynamism, excitement, creativity... but Water will soon give up staying around such a blazing Fire.

Leo is a very creative sign, a man/woman of action. Pisces is creative, too, so the relationship could be very dynamic from this point of view. Leo's generosity (who is, indeed, good as a play) will attract you from the first moment, and (s)he, in his/her turn, will be fascinated by your sensitiveness and visionary spirit.

Don't forget that what Leo loves most is paying court (or flirting), maybe even more than the relationship itself. Leo is a born romantic and (s)he will be very courteous.

Leo is very strong, offering Pisces a support that (s)he needs so much, especially since (s)he doesn't like being in charge. And Leo will appreciate Pisces' "subordination" very much. If you can praise him/her honestly, permanently highlight his/her qualities, you'll achieve very much. Leo likes for his/her many qualities to be recognized, likes being in the centre of attention and enjoys the others' appreciation and approval. In return, your Lion will offer you the courage you need to put your ideas into practice, to take action and make a name for yourself.

2014 Love Horoscope

The romantic tendency will be ensured for long term by Neptune, located in Pisces. Having it by your side, you'll be prone to enchanting yourself, to dreaming, hoping, giving expression to the entire poetry that lies deep inside you. It's true that you might sometimes rejoice on an illusion or invest in the wrong person, but this is also the result of the need to let yourself be charmed, to live as closely as you can to fairytales.

In the first part of 2014, sentimental aspirations could take more concrete shapes, because the enthusiastic and adventurous Jupiter will be in Pisces' house of love and sexuality. Jupiter will lend you courage and enthusiasm; will make you be more self-confident as regards your power of seduction and it will see that you are provided with favourable circumstances.

If you already have a relationship, in 2014 you'll be able to take advantage of Jupiter's transit to enrich your erotic life, to experience new sensations and carnal fulfilment.

Jupiter will amplify not only your sensuality, but also your fertility, so it's not excluded that in 2014 a pregnancy or even the birth of a child will happen.

On the other hand, Venus wants that in the first two months of 2014 love is connected to friendship, group activities, organizations, manifestations with an audience, conferences, congresses, shows, etc. It's possible that there have been some evidence in this respect ever since November-December of the previous year.

Anyway, the first trimester in 2014 will have a strong relational mark, considering that Mercury, the ruler of Pisces' house of couples, will have an interesting to-and-fro in the area Aquarius-Pisces. Beware, though: the period could also bring complications.

Another very intense period at the passionate-erotic level will be the interval June-July 2014.

Starting August 2014, things will calm down and they will become neutral again.
